CONDITIONS OF THE TENDER

The property is sold in its current condition “AS IS WHERE IS BASIS”.

Persons permitted to participate in the procedure for the public collection of bids are any natural persons who have Croatian citizenship, citizenship of countries within the European Economic Area and citizens of those countries with which the Republic of Croatia has a reciprocity agreement for acquiring real property titles.

All legal persons who have their headquarters in the Republic of Croatia or in a country within the European Economic Area may participate in the procedure for the public collection of bids.

The bid guarantee may only be in the form of a bank guarantee.

The most economically advantageous bidder is deemed to be the bidder who offers the highest price which must be higher than the starting price, or equivalent to the starting price and expressed in Croatian kuna, whereas bids submitted in other currencies will not be taken into consideration.

In that event that the same bidder submits a number of bids for the same property, only the bid with the highest offered price will be taken into consideration.

In the event that the first most economically advantageous bidder withdraws from the tender, the economically advantageous bidder is deemed to be the next bidder who has offered the highest price under the condition that it exceeds the starting price.

After selecting the most economically advantageous bid, the Ministry of Physical Planning, Construction and State Assets will return to the bidders their bank guarantees, without any liability for subsequent costs associated with the guarantees.

If a bidder withdraws his most economically advantageous bid or fails to respond to the call to conclude a sales contract within the set deadline, that bidder loses the right to receiving back his bid guarantee submitted for the respective bid, and the Ministry of Physical Planning, Construction and State Assets is authorized to collect payment from it.

The Ministry of Physical Planning, Construction and State Assets retains the right to withdraw from selling the property at any time prior to signing the sales contract. In the event that the Ministry of Physical Planning, Construction and State Assets withdraws from selling the property, the bank guarantees will be returned to the bidders and subsequently the respective Ministry is not materially liable or liable in any other way towards the bidders, nor does it is obliged to inform the bidders of reasons for such action. In such cases, bidders are not entitled to any compensation for costs due to the bank guarantees nor are they entitled to any other costs in the procedure for the submission of bids.

The bidder with the selected most economically advantageous bid is obliged within a period of eight (8) days of delivery of the sales contract, to sign and deliver the sales contract to the Ministry of Physical Planning, Construction and State Assets. Otherwise, the Ministry of Physical Planning, Construction and State Assets is not obligated by its decision on the selection of the most economically advantageous bid.

The bid guarantee in the form of a bank guarantee is returned to the bidder with the selected most economically advantageous bid as the buyer within a period of 8 days after payment of the sales price is recorded on the giro account of the State Budget.
